Hawkesbury - January, 2016

DART Aerospace announces the launch of its new Approved Maintenance Center (AMC) network. By establishing this new network, DART allows small and medium size helicopter operators and private owners to have access in their region to dedicated partners qualified to offer DART aftermarket solutions. In addition to this proximity service, the AMC partners can offer DART solutions with very competitive terms.

DART is proud to partner with the following North American Maintenance and Completion Centers. This privileged group, are leaders in their regions and were carefully selected by DART based on their market reach and quality of service.

In Canada, DART welcomes three new AMC partners: Avialta Helicopter Maintenance, Eagle Copters Maintenance Ltd., and EuroTec. In the United States, eleven partners have joined the AMC network: Advanced Helicopter Services, Cascade Helicopter Services, Hangar One Avionics, Hillsboro Aviation, Rotorcraft Support (RSI), UniFlight (Grand Prairie, Northeast, and West Penn), Rotorcraft Services Group (RSG), Sterling Helicopter, Summit Helicopters, Metro Aviation, and Paradigm Aerospace Corporation. Additional AMC partners will be announced soon in Australasia, Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Latin America.

Alain Madore, DART's Vice President of Commercial Operations and Aftermarket: "These highly trained and qualified AMC partners now have the ability to offer not only the best parts and maintenance solutions available in the North American market today, but at a significant cost savings to their customers. Don't hesitate to ask your closest AMC about the new DART products"

The AMC partners have the capability to offer the widest selection of parts, accessories, and custom maintenance solutions available in DART Aerospace's catalog. All Network partners gain valuable insight from DART's Marketing, Product Development, and Customer Support teams. Despite the key advantages of working with AMC partners, helicopter operators and private owners still have the option to work with DART directly.

DART Aerospace is continuously striving to better serve its customers.
